Hanover Invites Community to Discuss Shared Vision

Come join the conversation about the future of Hanover! The Hanover Economic Development Authority (EDA) with support from the City Council has invited a group of volunteer planning and design professionals called the Minnesota Design Team (MDT) to come and facilitate a community discussion. The whole community is invited to attend weekend events on Friday, September 15th and Saturday, September 16th to work together and develop a vision for the future. In the months leading up to these weekend events, the EDA has coordinated a survey, held a brainstorming session with community leaders and worked closely with civic leaders to gather information and coordinate a weekend of tours and small-and-large group meetings.

The Design Team visit was applied for by the City's EDA following discussions of a desire to receive community input and have good discussions as the City continues to grow. What is important to you and how do you see Hanover in the future? Community engagement events will be held at Hanover Elementary School on Friday, September 15th starting at 6:00pm and Saturday, September 16th at 6:00pm with food provided each night from our local restaurants. Check out the City's website for more information – www.hanovermn.org.
